

Nova Scotia's ICT Sector

NOVA SCOTIA, CANADA PROVIDES AGILE SOLUTIONS

Strategic Location

Nova Scotia's time zone is exactly halfway between San Francisco and London, perfect for global operations in the tech industry.

Competitive Costs

Halifax, Nova Scotia has the 6th lowest operating cost for digital industries among competing jurisdictions. (KPMG).

Education

Nova Scotia's universities have 22% more students enrolled, per capita, in ICT related fields than the Canadian average, and more than any other province.

Hibernia Atlantic

At >53 Tbps, Nova Scotia boasts a low latency, redundant fibre, subsea cable that connects Europe to the East Coast of North America.

International Airport

Nova Scotia's Halifax Stanfield International Airport moves more than 80,000 flights per year.

Supporting Analytics

Nova Scotia's Collaboration for Analytics Research, Education and Technology (CARET) is a partnership between seven universities and NSCC to accelerate the data science industry.

Compatible Privacy Laws

Canada's data privacy laws are compliant with Europe's, allowing companies to do business and store data securely in North America.

Quality of Life

The average price of a house in Halifax, Nova Scotia is only $223,000 USD.

You'll be in Good Company

NTT DATA

CGI

SAMSUNG

HITACHI

Capgemini
CONSULTING. TECHNOLOGY. OUTSOURCING

Learn more about Nova Scotia's ICT sector at novascotiabusiness.com/ICT